

This Practice supports health and care research studies

Health research benefits everyone, from developing groundbreaking new treatments to simply finding better ways to care for you and your health.

This research often means that our patients have access to specialists and new treatments. It also provides opportunities to be involved in shaping the future of healthcare.

All studies are approved by the Health Research Authority (HRA), an arms length body of the Department of Health. They regulate the safety and ethics of all projects taking place in the NHS.

The practice may contact you about the opportunity to participate in studies that you are suitable for. NHS Nurses from Noclor may approach you as they work on behalf of the practice. Participation is completely voluntary, if you would prefer not to be contacted, please inform the doctor or nurse you are seeing.

For information on how data is used please visit: www.hra.nhs.uk/information-about-patients/

noclor

NHS

Health Research Authority

NIHR | National Institute
for Health Research